General Dynamics Awarded Weapon Systems Contract from U.S. Naval Sea Systems Command

STERLING HEIGHTS, Mich. – General Dynamics Land Systems, a business unit of General Dynamics (NYSE: GD), has received a $17.3 million contract modification from the U.S. Navy for the production of four 30mm Mk 46 mod 2 gun weapon systems.

The weapon systems are remotely operated, using a high-velocity cannon for shipboard self-defense against small, high-speed surface targets. The systems are part of the Littoral Combat Ship Gun Weapon Systems program and for the future USS Lyndon B. Johnson (DDG 1002).

Work will be performed in Sterling Heights, Mich.; Anniston, Ala.; Lima, Ohio; Tallahassee, Fla.; and Scranton, Pa.

General Dynamics Land Systems provides innovative design, engineering, technology, production and full life cycle support for land combat vehicles around the globe. The company's extensive experience, customer-first focus and seasoned supply chain network provide unmatched capabilities to the U.S. military and its allies.
